Mrs. Eveline L. Terry, mother of Misses Emma J. and Johnnetta L. Terry, of 1215 Jefferson street, died late Thursday afternoon.

FROM THE FAR WEST.

Assurances have reached Nashville that the Globe is now being read as far west as Oakland, Cal. This comes from Miss Mildred Beams, who recently moved with her parents from St. Louis, Mo., to that city, and who, in writing several friends, mentions the Globe, and asks for a certain back number. Miss Beams has issued a standing invitation to several of her Nashville friends to visit her western home. She expresses much regret at not having been able to stop over in Nashville a couple of days while en route home, but promises to try and arrange a special visit to this city ere long. She spent some time at Oberlin University and other large schools before moving to St. Louis, Mo., and Oakland, Cal.

A GREAT BARGAIN IN HIGH CLASS PHOTOS.

The Pythian Temple Studio, Summer street and Capitol avenue, conducted by Prof. W. G. Hynes of Nashville and Mr. Albert Sexton of Chicago, have just received their final shipment of the latest designs in the Photograph Card Stock and in order to introduce their superior grade of work into the homes of the Nashvillians will for a limited number of days give to the public an opportunity to secure one dozen of these high-grade photos at about their actual cost.

Think of it, for $2.50 you can obtain one dozen of these fine cabinet photographs giving to each sitter as many sittings as might be required to give entire satisfaction.

None can afford to miss this rare opportunity of getting a first-class article for a second-class price.

Three thousand of the finest photograph cards ever brought to Nashville have just been received which are designed especially for the three large colleges, Meharry, Fisk and Walden. On these rich cards will be embossed the triangular pennant flag with the colors of each school with name of school in the colors. No student, Freshman or Senior, desiring to have a set of first-class photos before the close of school can afford to ignore this great offer.

To establish a proof of the quality of our work, we invite all parties desiring to see some of our specimens of our photos made of Nashville citizens, to drop us a card and we will cheerfully bring to your homes a line of our samples that you may compare them with any photograph in your home that has been taken elsewhere and for which you have paid a double price to that which we are offering for a few days only.

Remember the place, remember the price, and remember the firm,

SEXTON &amp; HYNES.

BOOK NOTES.

Sunday School Commentary.

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the National Baptist Sunday School Lesson Commentary on the International Lessons for 1907, published by the National Baptist Publishing Board under the auspices of the National Baptist Convention. The Commentary comprises 355 pages and is a complete study of the International Series of Sunday School Lessons for the current year. It is neatly arranged, well edited and the mechanical construction is unsurpassed. The editors, Rev. R. H. Boyd, D. D., L. L. D., and Rev. W. S. Ellington, B. A., have shown themselves equal to the occasion. There is a nice article on Sunday school methods by the editor, which shows that the first Sunday school organized in New York was by Mrs. Kate Ferguson, who was a Negro woman. The entire article is replete with valuable information. There is a four-color map of Palestine. The preface of the book is prepared by the scholarly Dr. W. S. Ellington, and throughout the entire volume will be found very elaborate explanations on the Sunday school lessons. The introduction, the special topics, the truths gleaned from the lesson, with the questions and the primary teachings, are the most helpful we have seen. We congratulate these editors upon such a wonderful production for Sunday schools. It is the only Baptist Sunday School Commentary published in the United States, and up to last year was the only Negro Commentary on the market. It seems almost impossible for a teacher or superintendent to study the Sunday school lessons advantageously without a copy of this book. The publishers are offering it in cloth binding for 75 cents, half morocco

A GREAT TENOR CONTEST.

One of the best and most highly interesting musical treats will be given at Kayne Avenue Baptist Church next Monday night. There will be a great number of musical talent interspersed into the contest. Those who like high-class singing will be well repaid for their time on this occasion. The program is as follows:

Invocation.

Anthem—"O be Joyful."

Anthem—"Rejoice in the Lord."

Solo—"Deep in the Mines"—Ellis McNairy.

Solo—"Love," from Sergt. Kitty—Miss C. Black.

Solo and Chorus (Illustrative)—"I love them all"—G. Morton.

Solo—"Dearie"—J. Blaine Boyd.

Solo—Miss Anna Rucker.

Chorus—"Row, Boatman, Row"—A. L. Anderson and others.

Contestants.

Sam N. Moore (selected).

Wm. McEmore—"Love Me and the World is Mine."

R. W. Turner—"Your Heart Alone Can Tell."

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zackery on Fourteenth avenue, N., was the scene of a brilliant affair last Monday night, February 10. Mrs. Zackery makes a charming young hostess. Several games were entered into heartily, the principal game being pit. A number of the younger married element were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bently, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Deemon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meadows. Those of the single people, Misses Mattie B. Topp and Lizzie Dickerson; Messrs. Edward Osborne, Geo. North, Jno. Sims and Geo. O. Flyod.
